

An Appreciation

Lest some of our regular patrons should think that we are overlooking them in our efforts to secure new business, we write this little appreciation. The people who have stood by this bank we consider the salt of the earth. Nothing is too good for them. We are of course anxious to secure new business, but never at the expense of our regular patrons, for they are the people who made this bank possible. We know it, appreciate it and are free to acknowledge it. By treating our old patrons fairly and extending the same courtesies to new customers we hope to grow stronger year by year.

The new First Christian church in Union City will be dedicated next Sunday. The Commercial says that "the new church is without question the most architecturally beautiful imposing building in Union City." Mr. H. L. Hubbard, of Huntingdon, was the contractor and the building stands a monument to his splendid workmanship.

Mrs. Ben Hilliard died at her home in Louisville, Ky., last Monday night. She had been in bad health for a long time. Mr. Hilliard, her husband, is a son of the late Ad Hilliard, of this place, and the deceased has visited here and is known to many of our people. She was an excellent woman and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. The burial occurred Tuesday.

There will be a one week's short course in agriculture at Paris, December 9-14, conducted by the Agricultural College of the University of Tennessee. The course is absolutely free, and has as its object the betterment of agriculture in this section of the state. As many farmers from this county as can possibly do so should attend and get the benefit of this course.

The cotton crop is not turning out well in Carroll county. The shortage is greater than it was thought it would be, and many farmers are a little blue over the situation. The high price will be some help, and the amount of money received for the crop this year will be in the neighborhood of that received last year. The price now is very fine, but the bulk of the crop is sold.

The Democrat was mistaken last week in the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Haywood McCollum and Miss Verna Letsinger. Mr. McCollum was in town Friday and informed us that the publication was a mistake. He said it had been so reported in his neighborhood, but there was nothing to it. The Democrat heard the report and made the publication in good faith, not knowing but what it was true, and without any intention upon its part of placing the young people in an awkward plight.

The popular McKenzie Quartette will be here Thursday night of next week and will assist in an entertainment to be given at the court house in the interest of Huntingdon cemeteries. The association has been very fortunate in securing these young men for the occasion and our people may feel assured that there is something good in store for them. The entertainment will consist of other interesting features and the occasion will be one well worth attending. As the proceeds go to so worthy a cause the court house should be crowded. In going you will not only get your money's worth from the entertainment, but you will also have the satisfaction of knowing you contributed to a worthy cause.

The recital given at the I. T. S. last Tuesday night was in every respect a splendid success. It was a recital of the department of expression under Miss Birdie Hobson and of the department of music under Miss Mae Goldman. The program was carried out well, each member performing his or her part to the satisfaction of the large audience that was present. The auditorium was crowded and the audience was more than pleased with the entertainment. It was very gratifying to the school for so many of the town people to be in attendance.

Thanksgiving Supper

The ladies of the Baptist church are going right along with their preparations for their Thanksgiving supper. They have been assured that the attendance this year will be even larger than at the previous suppers and they are planning accordingly. The menu, which was published last week, and their success heretofore in that line is evidence to the people that they will get their money's worth. The supper will be given at the Hotel Olive on Wednesday evening of next week. Everybody is invited. The price is 50 cents.

Johnson-May

Clifford Johnson and Miss Bettie May were married last Sunday. They are clever young people who live a few miles east of town and have a number of friends who wish them a happy married life. The marriage was a quiet affair. The ceremony was said by Esq. Nathan Enoch.
